

ROOSEVELT LETS NO GRASS GROW WHEN HE STARTS HIS NEXT CAMPAIGNING

STRENUOUS EX-PRESIDENT ON JOB EARLY THIS MORNING DICTATING LETTERS.

STARTS IN WITH VIGOR

To Take Active Part in the Coming Campaigns of the Progressive Party—Has Criticism of Wilson's Attitude As to Colombia.

Oyster Bay, New York, May 20.—Twelve hours after Theodore Roosevelt returned from South America, he was back in the thick of politics. He was up early and as soon as breakfast was over he was hard at work picking up the thread where he dropped it seven months ago. Colonel Roosevelt, it was learned today, looks forward to one of the hardest political campaigns of his career. Except for the time occupied for his trip to Spain for the wedding of his son, he expects to devote to politics most of his time until November. Already a tentative plan of action has been mapped out and Colonel Roosevelt has in mind one of the strongest campaign trips he has ever made, taking him from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and several shorter trips in nearby states.

By nine o'clock he was in the library, sitting on the ground floor of the old house at Sagamore Hill. He paced the floor and dictated letters and telegrams at top speed to a stenographer summoned from New York. His desk was piled high with messages from all parts of the world as to his health, and informed him of political conditions.

For ten days before he sails for Europe, Colonel Roosevelt has mapped out a program which will keep him busy. His present desire is to get back in touch as soon as possible with the affairs of the progressive party in all parts of the country, and help to start the machinery for the coming campaign. Before he left South America, he planned work arranging for a conference with leaders of the progressive party. The first was for today.

Colonel Roosevelt already had made appointments with progressive leaders of several states. One of the most important will deal with the situation in Pennsylvania, where Colonel Roosevelt expects to make a hard campaign this fall.

Colonel Roosevelt will go to his editorial office in New York this morning and will spend most of the day, meeting political associates at that time. He will confer with the New York state leaders.

The address which Colonel Roosevelt made at the annual meeting of the Geographical society in Washington, had been set for next Tuesday evening. It being said that the colonel will make the first formal announcement of his discovery of a relation to the Panama canal.

The Wilson administration attitude in the controversy with Colombia over the Panama canal was criticized by Colonel Roosevelt. He objected strongly to the payment of what he termed "blackmail."

"In submitting to this," he said, "it is just as though some future president of the United States would apologize to the successor of Huerta for the seizure of Vera Cruz as for the payment of thirty million dollars to Colombia—here the colonel threw up his hand—"well, that is unthinkable."

Colonel Roosevelt expressed himself as strongly opposed to the repeal of the law for the exemption of American coastwise ships from payment of Panama toll.

VICE PRESIDENT MARSHALL SPEAKS AT CELEBRATION

Charlotte, N. C., May 20.—Vice President Marshall was scheduled to make the chief address at this town's celebration of its Declaration of Independence. Charlotte prides itself on the fact that it and Mackinburg county declared freedom from England just one year ahead of the signing of the 1776 declaration.

RULES CONFESSION TESTIMONY OUT IN TRIAL OF BECKER

Judge Trying Becker Refuses to Allow Testimony On Confession By "Dago Frank" Before His Execution.

New York, May 20.—The confession that "Dago Frank" Cirofici made an hour before he went to the electric chair at Sing Sing will not help Charles Becker in his fight to prove his innocence of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, for which Cirofici and his three companions have already paid the penalty. The supreme court, before which Becker is on trial for the second time, refused today to admit testimony dealing with this confession.

"Dago Frank" before he died swore that he had never heard the name of Becker mentioned until Rosenthal had been killed. The defense had planned to place upon the stand the sister of the dead gunman, the priest who accompanied him to the chair, the warden and the principal keeper at Sing Sing to testify to the authenticity of this confession, but Justice Seabury's ruling defeated their intention. Becker's face fell when he heard the ruling.

SENATE TURNS DOWN DATE FOR TOLL VOTE

Senator McCumber Declares Time Has Not Come to Fix Date for Vote on Toll Question.

Washington, May 20.—An attempt by Senator Kern, democratic leader, to get unanimous consent for a vote on May 27 on the Panama toll appeal bill, was defeated when Senator McCumber objected. "The time has not yet come to fix a date for voting," the North Dakota senator insisted.

GENERAL SYNOD OF LUTHERANS MEETS IN AKRON, OHIO, TODAY

Akron, Ohio, May 20.—With delegates present from all sections of the country the biennial convention of the general synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church in the United States opened its sessions here today. Many subjects of great importance to the church are scheduled for discussion.

COMMERCE COMMISSION DENIES REQUEST FOR REHEARING OF CASES

Washington, May 20.—The interstate commerce commission today denied a petition for the rehearing of the industrial railroad of the cases recently passed upon by the commission.

GOVERNMENT SHOWS HOW IT SELLS ITS TIMBER

New York, May 20.—Models representing an acre of western yellow pine land in a national forest of the southwest before and after logging were shown here today by the government forestry bureau in Washington at the opening of the forest's products exposition. In the model showing the stand before the lumberman goes into the trees range from those only a few years old to large, overmature, tag-headed individuals more than ready for the ax.

NO CLUB SALOONS IS RULE GIVEN BY ATTORNEY OWEN

Madison, Wis., May 20.—No club or association can furnish liquor to its members without a license. The holding of the United States government license by a club operating in a dry territory is prima facie evidence of a violation to exercise laws of this state. These two statements were made today by Attorney General Owen in an opinion to District Attorney Nelson.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS NEWS OF SILLIMAN

BRYAN ASKS IF IT IS POSSIBLE TO FIND OUT FACTS.

WAS PARKS MURDERED

Reports From Survivors Say He Was—Seek to Keep Tampico An Open Port.

Washington, May 20.—Anxiety among the officials here over the inability to get definite word from Consul Silliman, who was reported released from prison at Saltillo more than a week ago, aroused the state department to renewed activity today in the missing American's behalf.

Evidencing his own apprehension, Secretary of State Bryan telegraphed to American Consul Hanna at Monterey asking if it would be feasible to send a messenger to Saltillo to determine if Silliman ever had been released.

Parks' Death

Captain Percy Willis of the coast artillery at Key West notified Secretary of War Garrison today by telegram that he had obtained an affidavit from A. W. Bland, lately arrived from Vera Cruz, declaring that Samuel Parks, the American soldier who wandered from the lines at Vera Cruz, had been executed.

According to Captain Willis, Bland talked to an acquaintance in Vera Cruz who saw the body of Parks, and who declares that the American soldier was shot by Mexican soldiers and the body destroyed.

War department officials are anxiously awaiting news of the battle in progress between the federals and constitutionalists in front of Saltillo, but queries for information sent to the front have brought no replies.

Keep Tampico Open

That every effort will be made by the United States to maintain the port of Tampico free and open to commerce was declared today by Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt. While no definite orders had been issued the acting secretary said that if necessary steps would be taken to prevent a blockade by either Mexican federals or constitutionalists.

Estacion Amargos, Mexico, May 19, via El Paso, May 20.—General Francisco Villa, leading 4,000 constitutional troops, won the first important engagement of Saltillo May 17, when he defeated 4,500 federals retreating from Monclova.

Not only did General Villa administer a defeat to the federals, but he prevented the arrival at Saltillo of the Monclova force, which the federal garrison would have added materially to the defensive force. He also captured supplies which would have been valuable to the garrison of Saltillo, and which have added a tremendously increased strength to the power of Villa's attack.

Loss Estimated

Estacion Amargos, May 19, via El Paso, May 20.—The constitutionalists lost sixteen killed and twenty-nine wounded. The federal casualties were twenty-nine killed and over eighty wounded. The constitutionalists captured nine hundred people, nine pieces of artillery, over one million rounds of small arms ammunition, a large quantity of artillery ammunition and a large supply of provisions. In addition five trains which carried the Huerta soldiers were captured.

Plans for the withdrawal of a part of the naval force now in Mexican waters were considered at the navy department today. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt stated that within a week he hoped to withdraw to America one division of the Atlantic consisting of four battleships and five torpedo boats.

JUDGE HAS RIGHT TO CARRY A REVOLVER

So Declares Judge Clemenson in Circuit Court at Prairie du Chien Today.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., May 20.—"A judge has the right to carry a revolver when sitting on the bench in case he needs it to enforce respect for his position and to protect himself against a mob," said Judge George Clemenson in circuit court here today. He heard the charge brought by District Attorney Munson, against Judge David L. Dobson, of the municipal court of Bell Center. Dobson was accused of carrying concealed weapons.

"There's a rough element at Bell Center," explained Dobson, "and unless backed by a gun there's often a kick in my decisions." The case was dismissed.

FEAR ZAPATA PLANS WHOLESALE BUTCHER OF POLITICAL FOES

Prince of World's Bloodthirsty Bandits Said to Be Contemplating Mexico City Massacre.

Mexico City, May 20.—With Emiliano Zapata and his band of bloodthirsty bandits almost within gunshot of the capital, the people of Mexico City are panic-stricken. For Zapata has threatened to take the city by fire and sword, and his entrance into it would mean the reign for days of butchery and loot.

Zapata is called the greatest bandit who ever lived, not even barring Attila, or Genghis, or Ghengis Khan; the one New World savage more bloodthirsty than Geronimo; the one soldier whom the armies of our government have failed to conquer, and who is now ravaging an area larger than the states of New York and Texas combined.

Zapata has seized half a hundred towns more than 200 miles from the capital and children to the sword, taken or destroyed more than $100,000,000 worth of property, and rides today at the head of a well-armed, finely-mounted force of 10,000 cavalry which is feared throughout all of southern Mexico.

Will Kill Huerta

Zapata has said that he will kill Huerta as soon as Mexico City falls. No one doubts this. When Huerta first took the reins of government he sent twenty-seven men, each ignorant of the other's presence, into Morelos and Guerrero, with the offer of a reward of $5,000 for Zapata's head, dead or alive. Some of these men—for he knew of their coming almost as soon as they left Mexico City—Zapata shot; still others he took prisoners; one, who became obstreperous, is reported to have been burned alive, and from others he cut the nose, or one ear, and sent them back to the federal government as warnings. While Huerta's effort to "get" Zapata failed, the latter has never forgotten the dictator's attempt upon his life.

Zapata is a trained soldier, forty-three years old, with sixteen years of his life spent in the army, a prisoner under Porfirio Diaz. He first appeared on Mexico's horizon, may twenty-three years ago, at the head of twenty-five men, in the village of Yatepec. He was thrown into the army, and there devoted all his energies to the arts of war, so that, when he seized his destiny, he might turn them against Porfirio Diaz.

Heads "Death Legion"

Freed in 1906, he broke out in the spring of 1911 under the banner of Madero, at the head of a band of men he fantastically christened "The Death Legion." They have lived up to every word of their name. In a sort of wild justice he first captured Yatepec, where he had been arrested a score of years before, and released from prison. He then captured a score of villages, blackened ruin, razed 4,500 inhabitants scattered to the four winds, saw those whose bones lie bleaching beneath their dynamite shattered homes.

In the five years which has elapsed between Zapata's capture and his escape, he has been a memorable morning, March 2, 1911, when he sacked Yatepec, he and his brother bought thousands of rifles, a dozen rapid fire guns and millions of rounds of ammunition, which he stored in artificial caves beneath the earth of their fields in the fortified town of Villa Ayala, his ancestral home. To them, under the guise of rebels against the rule of Porfirio Diaz, heeded 2,000 men, the worst of the Huerta cause, and a highwayman of all the rif-raff which followed Madero into power.

His forces thus increased to nearly 3,000, abundantly armed, munitioned and mounted, Zapata rode out of Yatepec, a cavalier of crime not yet ended, and unparalleled in the annals of the world. With the smoke of Yatepec like a curtain behind them they rode to Joluita, thirty miles away. Between the two towns not a house was left standing in a strip five miles wide, and not a looking woman escaped; not a man who tried to protect his home and his wife and daughters lived to tell it. No barbarism was too cruel, no outrage too revolting to be committed by these Indians going south, place by place, in the goodly state of $10,000 from the municipal treasury and thousands on thousands of dollars worth of goods from jewelry stores and retail shops.

Joluita's fate was delayed two days by the sacking and destruction of Actatlan, a small but prosperous town in the path of these human locusts.

More Butchery

In Joluita was a garrison of thirteen men, surrounded by the town, with which the 3,000 men agreed to give the town safe passage to Cuernavaca, if it would surrender. The federals agreed. They reached a point about three miles out of Joluita and all were slain. The Joluita was given to the looters and to the flames. Within a month these three towns were ash heaps. About $10,000 was secured from the town treasury in Joluita, and something like $25,000 more was paid over by merchants for "protection," over by merchants had they paid the bandit leader, however, than their homes were looted. If the non-combatants resisted, they met death.

During the three years that have intervened since the sacking and destruction of these towns, Zapata has grown in power and in bloodthirstiness. His hands are literally reeking with blood, and he looks upon the capture and loot of Mexico City as the one great event in his life—the climax of his career.

God pity the people of Mexico City

if he enters the town before the arrival of General Villa.

BARONESS BUYS SON TO GET RICH ESTATE

Vienna, May 20.—On the charge of passing off the infant son of a cook as her own, Baroness Zola today is awaiting trial at Graz, Styria. As she had only two daughters, the family was not entitled to inherit as an estate, belonging to an unmarried cousin of Baron Zola. Fearing that she would never have a son of her own, the Baroness agreed to buy the cook's boy for $200, and promised to pay a huge sum for arranging the deal. Discovery of the plot followed her attempt to get possession of the money. She was arrested and later tried to throw herself from the second story window, but was prevented.

RAIN STORM CHECKS SWEEPING FIRES IN NORTHERN FORESTS

Village of Madeau Half Destroyed By Fire This Morning—Brush Fires Under Control.

Marquette, Wis., May 20.—The village of Madeau, in Menominee county, was more than half wiped out by fire early this morning. The flames started from a chicken incubator in the Exchange Hotel, destroying that place, another hotel, saloon, postoffice and eight dwellings. The fire brigade, assisted by the Marquette fire department, which came to the rescue, succeeded in getting the fire under control this morning.

The loss is estimated at about fifty thousand, partially covered by insurance.

Rain Checks Fires

Calumet, Mich., May 20.—Rain today checked brush fires throughout Houghton and Ontonagon counties, and brought relief to farmers, railroads and lumber companies. The loss has not been definitely computed. Last night's report that the inhabitants of Saginaw, a hamlet on the junction of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, had been destroyed by a forest fire, proved untrue. The fires in that vicinity did not reach the village.

Under Control

Duluth, Minn., May 20.—Reports reaching Duluth this morning from various sections of the northwest menaced yesterday by brush and forest fires, indicate that the fires are under control, and the smoke entirely subdued the flames. Storm clouds rested upon the waters of Lake Superior were driven ahead of the wind, and navigation on the lake again is under condition.

A Drizzling Rain Today Will Check the Fires of this Region

Red Cliff village on the Indian reservation are also destroyed. State Fire Marshal Lucius arrived at Ashland today, a personal inspection of the fire situation. He said that there were fires on the northwest line as far as one hundred and fifty miles south. He has ordered all railroads north of Marquette paralyzed. Mr. Butler's home on Flambeau, is burned. Big fires are reported near Saneto Cedir, Woodruff and Manitowish near Elk. Fires are nearly continuous along the northwest line for one hundred and fifty miles.

POLICE USED PADDLE ON CAMPING TRAMPS

Squad of Five Officers Disband Vagrant Camp, Chase Each One's Hair and Clasp Them

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 20.—A squad of five policemen under the direction of Captain Richard Kelly last night arrested twenty-two vagrants who had camped in the outskirts of the city. One of the men by clipping a furrow through his hair with a pair of horse clippers, ordered them out of town, and as they ran "padded" them with a barrel stave. The vagrants were told if captured before they were sent to the stone pile for one hundred days. The tent and equipment of the camp was burned.

SET BRUSH AFIRE AROUND PAVILION

Fire Alleged to be Work of Arson Squad, Encircles Pavilion Where King and Queen are Residing.

Aldershot, Eng., May 20.—A great brush fire, declared by the authorities to have been the work of arson, surrounded the pavilion where the royal couple are residing. The royal pavilion in Long Valley, where King George and Queen Mary are in residence in the center of a great array of British troops.

PROCEEDS OF TAX SALE MORE THAN FIVE THOUSAND

Proceeds from the annual tax sale which was held yesterday at the county treasurer's office amounted to $5,194.32 according to the totals which were compiled today. The sale passed off very quietly without friction or contest and the entire business was closed up in less than an hour and a half.

The Friend Of The Family

What more intimate friend of the family is there than the reputable daily newspaper? It is consulted by all. It is guide and counselor—more than friend.

Is it to be wondered that the advertising in a good newspaper like The Gazette produces great results? The advertisers come to the general public with the introduction of a friend to help them.

They are given respectful attention and the results they secure are largely due to the reputation of the newspaper through which they have pleaded their cause.

We do not admit undesirable advertisements to the columns of this newspaper because we are the friend of the family we have no right to bring into the family circle any one in whom we have not the utmost confidence.

A B C CONFERENCES ARE NOW UNDER WAY

STARTED THIS AFTERNOON AT THREE AT NIAGARA FALLS, ONTARIO.

WASHINGTON ANXIOUS

Future Moves Depend Entirely Upon the Results of the Decisions of the Delegates Seeking Peace.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, May 20.—The mediation conference of the United States and the Huerta government began at three o'clock. The first formal conference looking to a settlement to the procedure and preliminary organizations of the mediation proceedings were discussed.

Everything was ready today for the opening of the mediation conference which under the guidance of Ministers De Gama of Brazil, Naon of Argentina and Suarez of Chile, is to attempt to compose the difference between the United States and Mexico. The Mexican peace commissioners arrived early today from Niagara Falls, New York, while the American delegates reached here before midnight. Minister Suarez was the last of the South American mediators to reach the scene.

To the last delegates arrive. The formal convocation of the conference was set for three p. m. today. The program for today included nothing except the formal introduction and the exchanging of courtesies and the adoption of the plans for the conduct of the proceedings such as are customary to the opening of an international gathering of this character.

The mediators were prepared to lay before the delegates from the two governments, the rules and regulations which will be followed during the proceedings. Ambassador De Gama of Brazil, ranking representative among the three mediators, will be the leader in whatever action is taken, but it has not yet been announced whether there will be a chairman formally chosen to preside over the session.

Justice Lamar of the United States supreme court, and Frederick Lehman, former secretary of the department of justice, the American delegates with H. Percival Dodge, their secretarial adviser, are making their headquarters at a hotel in Niagara Falls on the American side.

Washington, May 20.—With the stage set for the beginning of the Niagara conference, today, officials in administrative and diplomatic circles here turned their attention to the proceedings in the Canadian border town which, it is hoped, would result in complete settlement of Mexican affairs. The American delegates were in close touch with the progress of the negotiations by means of a special wire set up between the White House and the headquarters of the American Corn Mission at Niagara Falls.

Justice Lamar and former Solicitor General Lehman are familiar with the president's general view of the Mexican case, and they will submit any action on the proposals of the South American envoys.

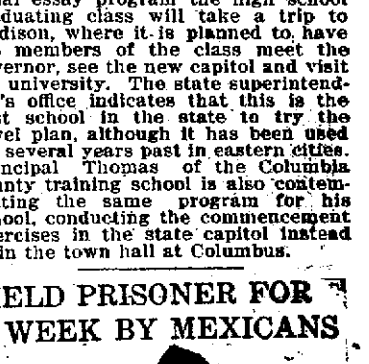

EVEN GOING TO MADISON FOR GRADUATION PROGRAM

Madison, Wis., May 20.—A new commencement idea will be tried this year by the graduating class of the Thorpe high school, under the leadership of Principal Lascber. Instead of the usual essay program the high school graduating class will take a trip to Madison, where it is planned to have the members of the class meet the governors of the state and visit the university. The state superintendent's office indicates that this is the first school in the state to try the novel plan, although it has been used for several years past in eastern cities.

Principal Thomas of the Columbia county training school is also contemplating the same program for his school, conducting the commencement exercises in the state capitol instead of in the town hall at Columbus.

SELECTION OF SUCCESSOR TO PACIFY ALL WARRING FACTIONS IN MEXICO TO BE BIG ISSUE AT NIAGARA FALLS CONFERENCE

The early downfall of Huerta being admitted as inevitable, the big question before the mediators at Niagara Falls is the prompt pacification of Mexico through the selection of a successor to Huerta who will be acceptable to the warring factions of Mexico. The men who represent the Huerta government at the mediation are declared to be not "Huertistas" or the representatives of any group of persons, but representatives of the best interests of the people in the territory controlled by the Mexican federal government.

SEEK TO REVIVE THE OLD ORGANIZATION

TWENTY-EIGHT REPUBLICANS ISSUE CALL FOR FIRST C. O. P. CONVENTION SINCE 1904.

TO MEET IN MADISON

John M. Whitehead Named Chairman of the Organization—E. L. Philipp the Leading Spirit in the Gathering.

In Milwaukee, Tuesday, twenty-eight republicans from various parts of the state met and decided that a republican state convention will be held in Madison on June 23 for the purpose of nominating a state ticket and adopting a platform on which to go before the people. In the primary campaign, the call for the convention was issued at a meeting of the republicans, who came together on Tuesday on the invitation of E. L. Philipp. The meeting was held on the twenty-first floor of the Railway Exchange building.

About twenty-five republicans who had been prominent in the party councils in various parts were present. They represented sixteen counties in the state. It was stated that only a small number had been invited, but

JOHN M. WHITEHEAD
Chairman G. O. P. State Convention.

Letters were shown from leaders in other counties in the state who expressed themselves as in entire sympathy with the movement.

The call adopted a platform toward conservatism in expressing the situation in the state and includes the tariff as a prominent issue in the coming campaign.

Will Be 1,065 Delegates.

The representation will be the same as that under the call for the last official republican state convention, which met in Madison in 1904, and will include 1,065 delegates. These will be elected at mass meetings held in the different counties. It was held that as under the present law there is no provision for the holding of caucuses or county conventions, the delegates could be better elected under the mass meeting plan.

The call for the convention which was issued is as follows:

"It is a fundamental right under our form of government for the members of a political party to meet in convention and discuss the interests of the people. Although party conventions are not now provided for by law, political conditions in our state and nation demand that political parties again assemble in conventions and discuss the interests of the people and the demands of the government."

"There is a general recognition of business that we believe to be the result of unwise tariff legislation."

"State taxes are excessive and there is a well founded complaint among the people that the revenues of the state are wasted by useless commissions and state officers and agents."

"The extravagance of the university is bitterly complained of and the political meddling of certain persons connected with the university is the subject of widespread criticism."

"That the laws governing the construction of highways have opened the doors to extravagance and should be changed."

"That the laws controlling reforestation are unwise as are the laws controlling water powers, and should be changed."

"That there is a general demand among the people to re-establish the privilege of meeting and discussing their political needs and maintaining party organization to the end that the parties may be held responsible for the conduct of the government."

For Relief of People.

"In order to re-establish the republican party in Wisconsin and to declare our allegiance to a reasonable protective tariff to re-establish business and to concentrate the efforts of all voters who desire to aid in putting the state government upon a business basis and to relieve the people from the burden of taxation and reckless disregard of the public interest, we adopt a platform that will declare the relief that the people are seeking and to recommend candidates that can be relied upon to carry out such platform and insure to the people good government at a reasonable cost."

"We, the undersigned republicans, hereby call a republican state convention to be held at Madison on June 23, 1914. John M. Whitehead, Janesville; E. L. Philipp, Milwaukee; James G. Monahan, Darlington; W. E. Barber, La Crosse; Spencer Haven, Madison; Marshall Cousins, Kaukauna; P. Sheppard, Kaukauna; R. K. Oles, Whitewater; O. W. Johnson, Racine; John W. Philip Reviews Situation.

The pre-convention campaign will be in charge of Cameron W. Fraser of Menomonie Falls and the headquarters of the committee of which John M. Whitehead is president and Mr. Cameron the secretary, will be on the twenty-first floor of the Railway Exchange building.

The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by E. L. Philipp, who briefly outlined the reason for the conference. John M. Whitehead of Janesville was chosen chairman and C. W. Fraser secretary. Mr. Philipp made a short address in which he reviewed the situation in the state that in his opinion and that of many others made a state convention necessary.

Other short addresses were made by James G. Monahan of Darlington, Frank R. Bentley of Baraboo, W. E. Barber of La Crosse, E. H. Sheppard of Rhinelander and Dr. E. H. Leonard of New Lisbon.

Call is Approved.

A committee of five was appointed to draft a call for the convention. The committee consisted of O. L. Johnson, J. M. Whitehead, E. L. Philipp, C. W. Fraser and C. V. Fraser.

An adjournment was taken for the committee to prepare a call. The draft as reported was accepted by unanimous vote.

In view of the corrupt practices act and doubt whether or not it would affect such an organization as proposed, it was deemed best to provide a campaign committee, which was done.

Mr. Whitehead as president and Mr. Fraser as secretary. The meeting then adjourned.

The question of candidates was not discussed, those present holding that this should be left to the people when it met. While Mr. Philipp had been nominated for governor by the Sauk county convention, including those with whom he had lived in earlier days, he disclaimed any personal ambition. His anxiety, he said, lay entirely along the line of trying to get the party together once more.

However, Mr. Philipp intends to devote much of his time from now until the meeting of the convention to stirring up republicans all over the state with a view of inducing them to elect delegates to the state convention, as it is greatly desired to have representation from every county in the state.

ENTERTAINS SENIORS ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Prof. Allen B. West of High School Faculty To Be Host At Function at His Home in Milton Junction.

Next Wednesday afternoon promises to be an enjoyable one for the seniors at the Janesville high school, who expect to graduate, for at that time they will be the guests at an entertainment planned and given by Prof. Allen B. West of the faculty, at his home in Milton Junction.

The class will go to Milton in the afternoon, where they will enjoy a baseball match between the Milton and Ripon college teams. This game will be the last one in the Milton schedule, and the class will be more than entertained at this affair alone.

Later the soon-to-be graduates will go to the West home to enjoy what has been placed on the amusement program.

THE OLD SONGS AND THE NEW

Stephen Foster and Ragtime Music

The modern ragtime music—so-called, may be considered but a temporary aberration. A few years ago the popular airs were taken from the light comic operas, or from the sketchy music of the vaudeville artist. These have given way to variations on the plaintive negro airs of the old south and will in turn lead to something else that happens to catch the popular fancy.

But the simple songs of our fathers, the beautiful music and the heart-stirring words will again come into their own. And who do the great American balladists, Stephen Foster, will be recognized as one, who perhaps more than any other, caught the spirit of his time, and rendered it into music and words that were sung by millions of his country men and women.

Foster was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, July 4, 1826, and received his education in the public schools. When only sixteen years of age, he wrote his first song, while working in a little store in Cincinnati. It was called "Open the Lattice, Love," and was soon followed by "Uncle Ned"—which at once caught the popular ear, and was sung by millions of his country men and women.

Then came "Susanna"—popular with the minstrel troupes, and for which he received a hundred dollars. His "Old Folks at Home" was published in 1851, and brought him five hundred dollars. For copyright rights of this song he received, first and last, nearly $15,000.

Among his most popular productions were "Old Black Joe," "Old Kentucky Home," "Old Folks at Home" and "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming." These touching and beautiful compositions are all to be found in song collections now being issued by this paper for six coupons, and the cost of distribution. We believe this to be one of the most remarkable presentations ever offered to our readers—and it has our hearty endorsement.

The coupon printed in this issue will give information as to the terms upon which it may be had.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF VETERAN EDITOR

Barrett H. Smith of Shopiere, War Time Publisher of Beloit Journal, is Eighty Years of Age.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Shopiere, May 20.—Barrett H. Smith of Shopiere, a war time publisher of the Beloit Journal, now the Free Press, celebrated his 80th birthday on Tuesday.

Friends from all parts of the country remembered him with postcards and many within driving or motoring distance made pilgrimages to his home yesterday and today to pay their respects to the man all are proud to know.

Mr. Smith is a partially disabled man of a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Smith is in good health and enjoys the use of his faculties to a remarkable degree for a man of his years.

He gets about his house and yard with the aid of a crutch and spends much time in reading books and papers, a pastime he has enjoyed from early boyhood. Mr. Smith being a veteran of the civil war, at eight o'clock in the evening was serenaded by the members of the Congregational choir and other friends who sang the old war time songs, and for the time being he forgot his age and disability and enjoyed in spirit as young as any of them.

All who had the privilege of being there will long remember the hearty handshake and welcome Mr. Smith gave to the serenaders to come in and partake of a generous lunch consisting of ice cream and cake, after which they departed wishing him many more happy returns of the day.

Mr. Smith learned the printing trade in a building which stood on the corner of Broad and State streets, Beloit, in the Journal office, then run by Briggs and Foster, in a corner of the office where Wm. E. Strong of Beloit was working as a telegraph operator. The two were personal friends for many years.

After Mr. Briggs retired from the paper Mr. Smith went to Minnesota and worked at his trade for five years, returning to Beloit in the early sixties to run the Journal. Later his health compelled him to give up office work. He went back to the farm, which his father settled on in 1842, and which has ever since been his home.

His wife, Mrs. Alice, and two daughters, Miss Alice and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, her husband and son, live on the old homestead with Mr. Smith.

Other Shopiere News.

There will be union services at the M. E. church at Sunday morning, 10:30. Memorial sermon will be delivered by Rev. Crawford. All old veterans are invited to attend in a body.

Today evening the young men will have an entertainment at the Congregational church. The program consists of readings and solos by talent from Beloit, after which ice cream will be served.

The many friends of Byron Shimmell, a former Shopiere boy, will be surprised to know that he is down in Mexico serving as a wireless operator on the S. S. Utah, which saw service at Vera Cruz during the war.

Patrick being an old resident of this community will be generally missed by his many friends.

On Monday all that was mortal of Mr. E. K. Church died at 8 o'clock, after a long illness.

Mr. Church was a highly respected and prosperous farmer and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

The contractors are at work of finishing the work of putting a new culvert in the old south and will in turn lead to something else that happens to catch the popular fancy.

State Inspector Anderson, accompanied by County Superintendent O. D. Antisdel, visited our schools today and paid a high compliment to our teachers, Miss Alice Evans and Miss Minnie Klingbeil, for the good work done in our schools during the past year.

The local school board had already proved their satisfaction for their work by having the teachers for another year with an increase in salary, believing that good service should be encouraged by increased compensation.

The voters of District No. 1 and 5, Joint School District La Prairie and Turtle, are hereby notified of annual school meeting to be held Monday evening, June 1st, 1914, at school house in Shopiere, being one month earlier than past years because of new law passed by legislature in 1913 affecting all school districts outside of incorporated cities or villages.

ELIASON RESENTS ATTACK OF LA CROSSE HEALTH OFFICER

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., May 20.—State Veterinarian O. H. Eliason took occasion today to deny an assertion made by Dr. J. M. Furstman, health officer of La Crosse, that the state livestock sanitary board was derelict in its duty in connection with charges of fraud in the tuberculosis test at La Crosse.

Dr. Eliason said:

"Referring to the charges made by Dr. J. M. Furstman of La Crosse, I can say that absolutely no specific charges were made by Dr. Furstman to the livestock sanitary board or to me. I asked him to make his charges before me or the board in writing, but he failed to do so."

Dr. Furstman has any evidence in his hands to produce the same in an orderly manner. However, steps will be taken to compel Dr. Furstman to produce the same.

"As to playing politics, I have seen none in this connection, except what Dr. Furstman has injected into it himself."

DISCUSS PAINTINGS FOR STATE CAPITOL

Style of Mural Decorations Considered at Session of New Capitol Building Commission.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., May 20.—The capitol building commission in session here today spent most of its time considering the proposed paintings for the supreme court and general hearing rooms in the new state capitol. The paintings for the supreme court, in the east wing, will be made by Albert Herter, a New York artist. Herter is one of the recognized mural painters of the country, having held the position of vice president of the Society of Mural Painters of New York. He has won many notable prizes on his work.

In the north wing, which is now being constructed, there will be a general hearing room for the accommodation of the hearings of the railroad, industrial and tax commissions. The paintings for this room will be made by Charles Yardley Turner, the well known figure painter. He submitted his plan of drawings to the building commission today.

Turner was assistant director of color and decorations at the Chicago exposition in 1893 and was director of color decorations at the Buffalo exposition in 1901.

Secretary Law F. Porter of the commission said today that no construction contracts would be awarded at this meeting. He declared that if the same progress is made in the north wing for the next few months as has been made for the two months past the wing would be entirely enclosed by Jan. 1.

AMERICAN GOLFERS SCORE NEW VICTORY

Chick Evans Beats Englishman in Second Round.—Hale Is Only American to Lose Round.

Among the American golfers competing in the play for the British amateur championship at Sandwich, England, is Charles "Chick" Evans of Chicago, who has visited Janesville often and played over the Mississippi course. This spring Evans inspected the local course, and on his advice the links were improved with the addition of hazards and bunkers. Yesterday Evans defeated Carl Brehren, who defeated Jerome Travers in their first round, winning the match two up and one to play. As Francis Outmet, the American youth who holds the open championship, and Herreshoff of New York did not compete yesterday, playing the second round on Wednesday. Frazer Hale of Chicago was the only American to suffer defeat in the second round Tuesday. Evans, Weber, Lockwood, members of the American team, all defeated their opponents. Outmet and Herreshoff will play in the second round on Wednesday and if they win they will also play in the third round on Wednesday. Evans will meet Scott of Philadelphia. Weber will play Carlisle of Sunningdale and Lockwood will meet Hayling of Ealing. Outmet and Herreshoff will have as their opponents Tubbs of Littlestone and Platt of the Royal North Devon, respectively.

Sport Snap Shots

Umpire Bill Klem, the National league official, has something new in the way of a chest protector. It's Klem's own idea and he assures us that it's never been seen before. The thing has been made of a particular sort of tough fibre—imported at great expense and cost of life, says Bill—with cushions against the body, these latter being rolls of soft leather stuffed with hair. Klem has had it made to fit snugly around the neck and declares that it offers a springy resistance to four tips and it. This alone explains his success. He has long wanted. Henceforth, well armed with this new one, Bill will not have the slightest hesitancy in rushing right into all manner of close plays.

Branch Rickey, the Brown manager, has a very charming personality. This alone explains his success in keeping his players away from cigars and poker. Many a manager hoots Rickey's idea, but at present they are giving him more courteous consideration. The St. Louis players like their boss and that's why they are willing to quit the cards and the dominoes.

The Toledo boxing commission is the real thing. When the commission was first established the city authorities made it plain that the profits of boxing exhibitions should go to the maintenance of the city zoo and to charity. And the commission is there to see that such occurs. It is examining the books of all the different clubs and taking care to see that none of the promoters pads his expense accounts. Such being the case, it is clear that the usual sort of fight promoter won't last long in Toledo. Just how successful the scheme will be can scarcely be foretold. A number of good clubs have started up, but it is thought by many that they will drop out sooner or later. With the new rulings it will be necessary for the various clubs to work along amateur lines to a great extent in so far as the matter of prize money is concerned. Some of the commission's ideas are good, however, and should be encouraged. It's to be hoped that they make a go of it.

Johnny Kilbane is going after the lightweights. He has begun to weary of the small town stuff, and feeling that there is nothing much left in his own class to do with, he has determined to take a swing or two at some of the 133-pounders. In this he will be following the footsteps of his illustrious predecessor, Abie Atell, who made a wonderful record by disregarding poundage altogether and fighting anything from a welterweight to a bantam. All pigs looked alike to Abie. In 1902 he beat Bud Ryan, the then welter champ, and not so long after fought Harry Forbes, one of the fastest bantams of the time. Kilbane shows wisdom in selecting John Griffith as his first opponent in lightweight circles. Griffith has fought some of the very best in his class and has not been beaten yet. He is the best lightweight in Ohio, has a great following there and the fight should draw a large house when it is staged, July 4.

If Al McCoy, best known for the k. o. he handed George Chip, manages to slip just one more over in the first round he is sure to be dubbed "One-Round" McCoy. It appears that he managed to stop someone named Persall up in Connecticut a week or so ago.

DUAL MEET TO START AT 2 O'CLOCK SHARP

High School Athletes Will Informally Open Park Association Grounds on Saturday.

Promptly at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, the high school athletes will be warned by the shot of the pistol, that the inter-class track meet is on, and all events will be run off as quickly as possible. An attempt will be made to run one event off at a time, so as to give the crowd attending a chance to witness each individual contest.

The high school athletes will informally open the Park Association grounds for the season of 1914 on Saturday, when they engage in the first annual inter-class dual meet, and whether records are broken or not, an extensive interest will result from the afternoon's entertainment, besides having the way paved for the 1915 season at the local school.

Even for the fact that this season is the first in many years, at the local high school where track work has been taken up, the athletes are confident of covering the 220, 440, half-mile and mile in quick time, besides handling the field events handsomely. Atwood is clearing the bar at pole vaulting at nine feet, and is almost certain of clearing ten feet on Saturday. Smiley is running the 220 in a minute and under.

The display of prizes in Hall and Saville window is attracting a great deal of attention. A great afternoon sale is planned for Saturday and it would be lending good support, if the older crowd be present at the entertainment. The punt, forward pass, hammer, shot, put, pole, vault and broad jump are the field events, with the track contest composed of the dashes and long runs.

KELLY AND M'MAHON SIGNED FOR BATTLE BEFORE LOCAL CLUB

Name Beloit Heavyweight and Jack McMahon for Main Bout in Exhibition on June Third.

Promoters for the Bower City Athletic club are preparing papers to sign Jack Kelly, the Mountain champion, and McMahon, and Jack McMahon, who is training in Janesville, for ten rounds at the next Janesville exhibition which is planned to be staged June 3rd, two weeks from tonight.

The bout between McMahon and Kelly would attract considerable attention among the boxing fans of southern Wisconsin, as Kelly, the Beloit people cry, is the biggest and best hope in this section of the country. Coming to the Line City after chasing rival heavyweights off the western section of the map, he has started to mark his slate among heavies in the middle west. In the two last Beloit bouts he fought Moran of Chicago, and the general opinion is that Kelly deserves the credit in these matches.

McMahon came from Pittsburgh and is anxious to box in Janesville. Efforts were made to match him with Stanley Klosky, the Platteville fighter, who is making such a phenomenal record in knockouts. Klosky signed to meet Art Nelson, the Sparta heavyweight before the Platteville club. This match falling through for the time being, President J. H. J. of the Janesville club, got busy and Kelly agree to box here. The present plans are to match the winner of the Janesville bout and the Klosky-Nelson contest for a match during the Janesville fair. The "Knock-em dead" wonder from Platteville has agreed to this proposition, but local fans are of the opinion that Nelson will take him into camp for the Sparta man is considered the best heavyweight in the state and Klosky is liable to receive his first jolt.

McMahon starts a theatre engagement in Platteville Thursday, and while there will meet all comers for three rounds and expects to clinch a future match with the winner.

For one of the other bouts the promoters are planning to match Baiting Cox of Janesville, one of the best 124 pound men in the state, with Young Scotty of Milwaukee. Scotty, who registered a knockout over Bobby Ward, the pride of Beloit, challenged the Janesville man and, Cox declares that if sufficient "long green" is shown him he will take on Scotty. Janesville fans would like to see Cox in action again and Scotty, when right, is a hard batter to beat, as Bobby Ward discovered.

Two fast lightweights will be put on also or a match between two Janesville boys. It is probable that reputable boxers will be signed for the semi-windup. Walsh, the Canadian champion who fought Hal Clark, the Milwaukee lightweight, made a hit with the fans present at the last show and would like to see him put on for the next match.

WISCONSIN DEFEATS FAST CHICAGO NINE

U. of W. Conference Nine Has Bare Chance of Breaking Hold of Illinois on First Place.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 20.—The University of Wisconsin baseball team left for second place in the conference race Tuesday at Camp Randall, winning 5 to 4 in a game that went ten innings. Neuschwander pitched star ball throughout, while Des Jardins, Chicago's versatile athlete, upheld his reputation on the mound for Chicago. A record crowd saw the game. Wisconsin now has an even chance of either finishing second or breaking Illinois' hold on first place. Wisconsin meets Purdue here Thursday.

AMUSEMENTS

AT MYERS THEATER.

Tomorrow the vaudeville program will start at Myers Theater and Manager Myers has arranged an extra good bill for the opening days. The Savoy Company, head of the bill with an extra good gymnastic exhibition and this together with their seven canine wonders present something out of the ordinary for a dog act. It is difficult to describe this act, but the reader may fully appreciate it. The stunts done by the wonderful dogs are marvelous, while the people of the act are clever beyond the ordinary. Next on the bill comes Barber and Jackson, who entertain with some unusually good songs and some very clever dancing. Arthur Turely is an advanced entertainer and keeps the audience feeling good all the while. Tomorrow night Series Number 4 of Lucille Love pictures will be shown. Friday night series number 5 will be thrown on the screen. Saturday and Sunday the motion picture man will present Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle before the camera, in addition to the vaudeville.

THE APOLLO.

Four more big feature acts are announced for the Apollo theatre for the balance of the week, starting tonight. By reason of devoting the first of the week to motion pictures the management has been securing extra good attractions for the past couple of weeks and will continue to do so.

There is an act coming to the Apollo tonight that is equal to the best that has ever been shown here. The act has been playing Orpheum time and is filling in here. The Leitch-Weber quartet is an extremely high class act, in fact one of the best on the vaudeville stage. It is a refined singing organization of mixed voices and comes with many recommendations.

The other acts consist of The Three Cranes, comedy acrobats, E. A. third act, a child impersonator or some tame, and The Ozars, comedy talking jugglers.

LOWER CALIFORNIA NOW IN LIMELIGHT

Some Interesting Facts Concerning Portion of Mexico Coast of Which
Pacific Fleet is Now
Patrolling.

Lower California, Mexico's isolated portion of the coast of which the Pacific fleet of the United States is now patrolling, is one of the least known portions in North America. The following facts concerning this land, which projects about 800 miles easterly from the southern tip of the National Geographic Society's map of the peninsula, varies from about 20 to more than 100 miles in length, is bordered by numerous mountains, being mainly a mountainous region. It is thickly peopled and contains many sharply contrasting features. Low sun-scorched plains, fringed by thistledike the travel, are close to the bases of towering, jagged peaks, belted by forests of pines and black lava flows down the steeply scarred green-border mountains.

At the time of its discovery in 1532 an expedition sent out by Cortes discovered a fabulous rich island, estimated to have been inhabited by 25,000 Indians, who vigorously resisted the intrusion and prevented the newcomers from getting a foothold for more than a century. The Spaniards then came in and were successful in exploring the peninsula and establishing missions. They established three main routes along each coast and the third down the middle, which served as regular routes of travel today. The Spaniards have vanished from all parts of the former territory, except a few in the extreme northern end.

During the last half century all parts of the territory have been visited, mainly by Americans, in search of minerals and other natural resources. The title of the knowledge gained has become available to the public. Gold, silver, copper, iron and other minerals and much fertile land have been found, but the scarcity of water, fuel, forage, and the difficulties of transportation have united with other causes to bring about failure to develop the resources.

The climate of Lower California is generally hot and arid. Northern conditions are closely like those in adjoining parts of southern California. In the middle they are more arid, but the extreme southern end, though arid, has more regular summer rains. The peninsula suffers long periods of drought, during which no rainfall sufficient to start vegetation comes over large areas for periods of from three to five years. These dry series may be succeeded by torrential rains, which sweep the country and roll great floods down to the sea. Surface water is scarce and limited mainly to isolated water-holes in the rocks or to springs from which small streams flow a short distance.

The Rio Santo Domingo is the one living stream within the peninsula which flows on the surface from its source to the sea throughout the year. These conditions have resulted in the development of the richest and most extraordinary desert flora in the world. The bird and mammal life, however, is closely related to that of southern California. The large mammals are small desert mammals, such as rabbits, pocket mice, kangaroo rats and others. A large number of the smaller desert mammals never drink water, it having been found impossible to teach some of them to take water in captivity. Antelope, mountain sheep, mule-deer and mountain lions are the only large mammals.

The peninsula is thinly peopled and the most populous section is the region south of La Paz, where there are more regular towns and widely scattered communities along the coast, with a limited number of villages, ranches and miners' camps in the interior. Over the population Lower California has a territorial form of government, and, owing to its great length, is divided near the middle into a northern and a southern district, Ensenada and La Paz being the respective capitals.

Battle of Sabine Pass.
The story of the battle of Sabine Pass is history, not fiction, though, it must be confessed, it sounded far more like the latter than the former. You will find the full accounts of the fight in the "Records of the Rebellion" and a very interesting history of the affair in the second volume of "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government," by Jefferson Davis, page 337. References to the battle may also be found in "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War," published by the Century company.

AMERICAN COLLEGES ATTRACT FOREIGNERS

Thousands of Students Flock to Schools in United States Each Year—Smaller Colleges Popular.

There were 4,222 foreign students in attendance at colleges and universities in the United States in the year 1913, according to figures furnished at the United States Bureau of Education. This is an increase of 577 in two years. These students are better concentrated at the larger and better known institutions, as might be expected, but are distributed over 275 different colleges, universities, and schools of technology. The number of colleges or graduate grade departments, short-term courses, preparatory schools, and independent professional schools were included, the total being very much larger.

Canada has the largest representation—653 students are from the Dominion. China and Japan are not far behind—there are 594 Chinese students and 338 from Japan attending colleges in the United States in 1913. Of the other Oriental or Asiatic peoples, India is represented by 162 students; Turkey by 143; Korea by 13; Persia by 21; and Siam by 13.

Latin-America is strongly represented. Cuba sends 209; Costa Rica, 29; Guatemala, 15; Honduras, 12; Nicaragua, 18; Panama, 28; and Salvador, 19. Mexico heads the list with 223 students. From South America, Argentine sends 43 students to our colleges; Brazil, 113; Bolivia, 3; Chile, 12; Colombia, 3; Ecuador, 16; Paraguay, 2; Peru, 25; Uruguay, 2; and Venezuela, 7.

A number of higher education opportunities in the British Isles and on the Continent of Europe has not prevented nearly 800 European students from coming to America to go to college. Great Britain and Ireland are represented by 212 students, and Germany herself, the Mecca of the students, sends 122. The others, in order of numbers, are: Russia, 124; France, 45; Sweden, 41; Italy, 38; Austria-Hungary, 34; Switzerland, 29; Norway, 26; Greece, 22; Spain, 20; Netherlands, 19; Bulgaria, 15; Romania, 6; Belgium, 4; Portugal, 3; Montenegro, 1.

Even Australia and Africa have students at colleges in the United States. There are 56 students from New Zealand. Africa is represented by 15 from Egypt, 2 from Liberia, and 44 from South Africa.

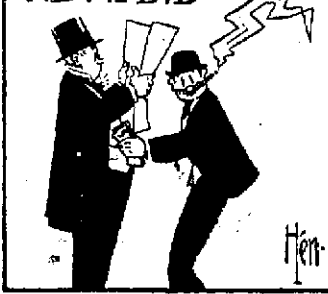

American possessions 434 students came to college in the United States; 103 from Hawaii, 235 from Porto Rico, and 111 from the Philippine Islands.

WRITING PAD AND TABLET

A Handy Combination Which Will Quickly Appeal to the Traveler.

It has taken the fertile brain of a United States Navy man to evolve the combination writing paper and envelope tablet which is shown in the accompanying cut. This was recently granted a patent. With the usual pad of writing paper which is so convenient to tourists, there is combined some cut paper shapes, which, when taken from the book and folded form a perfect envelope with much-liked edges for sealing. Anyone who has traveled at all extensively will appreciate the elements of handiness and compactness to be found in this combination. Loose envelopes have a tantalizing way of sliding from their moorings at inconvenient times and thereby becoming soiled and messy.

An authority on the subject of sleep and its recreative powers makes the following suggestion and claim: "Cut short the long, light sleep of the morning hours and substitute a short sleep at some favorable time during the work-day. Fifteen minutes' sleep after the heaviest work and the main meal of the day will count more for efficiency than five times 15 minutes of sleep in the morning."

ON FRAGRANCES.
The fragrances which are hunted down, caught and imprisoned in a sachet powder or toilet water to be sold to the public, are not the only odors which one loves to sniff.

There are some fragrances that have never been caught and imprisoned for men's pleasure which are just as dear to our nostrils as the most expensive sachets.

For instance, I know of no sachet which could give me half as much pleasure as the first whiff of the salt sweetness of the sea air which salutes me when I come back to the ocean.

Personal preferences in the matter of fragrances are usually very strong. It seems to me there is an exceptionally large element of the subjective in our sense of smell. As has often been said, an odor seems to bring back the past more poignantly than sight or sound. Therefore, our like or dislike of an odor is not merely for its intrinsic quality but for its association, and the two are often tangled up so closely that we cannot untangle them if we try.

It seems to me, for instance, that I love the smell of salt air for itself and would love it if I had never seen the ocean. But if that feeling could be analyzed just as we analyze chemical compounds I fancy I should find that it was about 25 per cent physical enjoyment of awakened memories of the sight and sound of the great blue, thunderous ocean, and of a thousand pleasant hours which I have had beside it, within it or upon it.

Again, to many people, the smell of the stable is a distinctly offensive odor, but a friend of mine who is passionately fond of horses and cows and anything connected with the stable, tells me that she loves it. "When the milkman comes my mind on opening the window to get that 'barny' smell out," she says, "and the perfume she puts on her hands is very sweet, far sweeter than anything I have ever smelled."

Speaking of barns, I wonder why the exquisite fragrance of new-mown hay has never been captured and distilled into a sachet. I should think it would be a most desirable and novel thing to have that class of people who are fond of fresh-cut wood, and another which I particularly like, and which I think there is nothing quite so sweet as the smell of fresh bread.

The sense of smell does not seem like a very important one to us, and is actually used in a practical way. Nevertheless it is still capable both of giving present pleasure and of poignantly recalling past pleasures.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What is good to make the face and hands white after they have tanned?

(2) I am thirteen years old and am going to graduate next year. Am I too low in school?

(3) I have a girl friend that likes the same boy that I like. But he does not like her but loves me. I do not care much for him, or her either. She is very jealous. What shall I do so she won't talk about me? What can I do so she won't be so jealous?

(4) Am I too big to kiss a man of twenty-four?

Dumplings
For Soups, Stews and Fried Chicken.
Left overs of roast lamb, veal or beef, the cheaper cuts of fresh meats, and fowl too old for roasting, make delicious and nourishing stews. K C Dumplings make them doubly attractive and the whole dish is most economical—an object to most families while meat is so high and must be made to go as far as possible.

K C Dumplings
By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the well known baking expert.
2 cups flour; 1 level teaspoonful K C Baking Powder; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; 1/2 cup shortening; milk or cream.

Sift together three times, the flour, baking powder and salt; mix with the shortening and milk or cream or milk to make a dough less stiff than for biscuits.

Roll the dough to a thickness of 1/2 inch. Cut out with a dumpling cutter or a small round tin. Boil in salted water for 15 minutes.

Made with K C Baking Powder and meat in this way, dumplings are as light as bread and are delicious with thickened gravy.

CODFISH SPECIALTIES.

The people of New England know how to prepare the fresh and salt cod in a great number of simple and delicious dishes.

Codfish Balls.—The salted fish is of course never so good as the fresh, but we must be satisfied with that when the fresh fish is unobtainable. Pick up two cupfuls of the fish and pour over it cold water to cover and simmer gently for 15 minutes, then pour off the water. Have prepared three cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, season with salt, pepper and three tablespoonfuls of butter and three of cream. Stir into the potato the fish, form into balls, dip in egg and fry in deep fat just before using.

Codfish Bisque.—Soak a cupful of salt codfish in cold water and pick it up as for codfish balls. Put it with a pint of water, a slice of onion and a pint of strained tomatoes in a saucepan to cook 20 minutes. Sprinkle in a bit of soda, and when it foams add a pint of milk. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, and when hot add the same amount of cornstarch, with a seasoning of white pepper, stir this into the boiling soup. Let it cook 20 minutes and serve with croutons or oyster crackers.

Codfish Porterhouse.—Pick up two-thirds of a cupful of salt cod, pour over it two cupfuls of cold water and simmer gently for 15 minutes after it begins to boil. Drain the water off and put into the pan with the fish two tablespoonfuls of butter. Pour into it three cupfuls of good, rich milk, or one of cream and one of milk is better. Stir two tablespoonfuls of flour smooth in half a cupful of milk, pour this into the hot milk and stir it until smooth, allowing it to simmer for five minutes after it is thick. Just before taking from the fire break into it three fresh eggs. Let the whites set before the yolks are broken and then stir them in lightly. Take from the fire at once and pour into the serving dish, dot with bits of butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Serve with baked potatoes.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
To remove ink stains from handkerchiefs, soak them in milk.

If you have to leave your mashed potatoes standing after they have been washed, put the pan of potatoes in another pan of boiling water and cover with a towel.

If you have difficulty making your pancakes or griddle cakes brown to a turn, add a spoonful of sugar or half a spoonful of molasses to the batter. The little bit of sugar or molasses will not change the taste or proportions of other ingredients.

When running rods through laundered sash curtains push a common flat pin through first and save time and curtains.

THE TABLE.
Green Corn Pudding—Grate the kernels from twelve ears of corn and stir into them the beaten yolks of four eggs, melted butter and granulated sugar. Now beat in a quart of milk, a half teaspoonful of salt and last of all the stiffened whites of eggs. Turn into a greased pudding dish and bake covered for half an hour, then uncover and brown. Bake in a quick oven.

Beer Salad.—Cut cold cooked beef into thin slices and then into pieces about an inch square. Arrange them neatly on lettuce leaves. Serve with a cooked dressing, into which you have stirred four tablespoonfuls of horseradish, and pour it over the beef and serve at once.

Margie's Idea.
"Papa was very polite at dinner," observed small Margie. "In serving the ladies he said 'dressing' because they like to dress, but in serving the gentlemen he called it 'stuffing,' because they always want so much to eat."

Does Tango Reduce Flesh?
The violent movements of the modern dances naturally tend to keep flesh down, but they also tend to put an extra strain upon the vital organs, especially the heart, and so may damage the health more than assist it. Besides, many people do not dance, and few people can afford the time to dance enough to really accomplish much reduction. A better way to dissolve fatty tissue easily and quickly without dieting is by taking the parrotis treatment, made at home as follows: Put 4 ounces parrotis (from your druggist) in 1 1/2 pints hot water and strain when cool. Take a tablespoonful before meals until you feel "loose." No harm results from the use of the parrotis treatment, and the flesh is left solid and the skin soft and smooth.—Advertisement.

Women Worth While

MRS. WILLIAM P. BORLAND.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.)
A mind with a sparkling quality like champagne; a personality that stimulates like contact with fresh, untrammelled forces; a tongue that in an hour's time can ripple through a witty conversation than the average woman has to her credit in a twelve-month—that's Mrs. William P. Borland of Kansas City.

For one thing Mrs. Borland can tell you how to make your trail and sickly child a cheerful specimen of health, when the modern germless method has failed. The remedy is extreme, she declares, but infallible. Let your husband run for congress and let him do his campaigning in the family chaise, accompanied by a witty child.

Here's our boy, for instance," she says, pointing with all a mother's pride to Master Hugh Borland, the sturdy young son of the house. "Would you believe he ever gave me a moment's anxiety during the first months of his career? Well, he did. And he was such a germless baby I used to hand him a sterilized rattle on the end of a sterilized stick. In my solicitude for him I reduced life to the term of germs, or rather germlessness."

Then Mrs. Borland decided to run for congress. There was nothing for me to do but put the baby and the milk bottle in the bottom of the buggy and campaign with his father. From the day our boy began to drink milk that was churned as we jogged along country roads in the heat of a summer's day and of an exciting campaign, he began to get fat and rosy. Voters bestowed all-day suckers on him and I gained sufficient control to watch him dispassionately while he consumed them. They agreed with him perfectly. In fact, he owes his sturdiness to campaigning with his father on a perfectly deadly and unorthodox diet of sour milk and all-day suckers.

When Men Talk About Women
Women wonder what the men say. Now, two men talk in public: both husbands. One man answers, "Is Any Woman Easy to Live With?" and he doesn't let the chance go by to "take hold." Another tells, "What I Saw in My Wife to Marry Her" and writes a story that "may sound like a mighty strange reason for marrying a girl," told just as a man would talk, with a point that every man will see. They are real "men stories," but for women and men.

CITY FINANCES ON GAIN DURING YEAR

Auditor's Report Shows That Funds Increased During Past Year and General Condition Improved.

The excellent condition of the city finances for the past year is shown by the auditor's report, which was accepted and ordered placed on file by the council at yesterday's meeting. The auditors, H. S. Haggart and W. S. McCue, completed their work last week and made the following report: "After a thorough investigation of the books and accounts of the city treasurer for the fiscal year ending April 15th it is certified that cash received from various sources is properly accounted for, the disbursements are supported by warrants, vouchers and bank checks, verified by corresponding entries in cash and check books. All vouchers have the approval signatures of proper officials. The cash on hand verified and bank accounts found correct and all entries made correctly with the exception of a few minor clerical errors aggregating thirty-eight cents.

"The balance with corrections of the cash on hand showed a total of $164,533.64, which was given in the annual report of the city treasurer. As compared with the balance in different funds on the same date a year ago, the general fund shows an increase of $5,600 and the ward funds of about $2,700. The treasurer had on hand April 1st in the regular working funds an available cash balance of $77,228.50 and the income tax collection of 1913 of $9,900.06 will make a sum total of $90,778.25, as against $82,052.25 for the same in 1913.

"This is an increase in funds on hand for working purposes of over $8,700, and does not include the amounts in the school, library, street improvement, bonded debt funds or any such funds set aside for definite purposes. The total cash on hand April 15th, 1914, was $163,727.74, and on April 16, 1914, $164,533.64.

"The city received during the past year $475.24 more in bank interest than was received in previous years. The condition of the city finances is shown by the treasurer's books to be in excellent condition."

COOKSVILLE

Cooksville, May 19.—Three new telephones have been put in here within a week, Louis Erickson, the store and Will Porter.

A dance at Will Zimmerman's last Friday night kept the young people till four in the morning. Robertson and Busby furnished the music.

The two cement bridges are completed. The other one will be finished in the fall.

Lightning struck the west end of the Masonic hall during the recent storm, but luckily it did not set it on fire. It looks as though someone had been splitting kindling two by fours in five splinters all over the floor.

A ride up and around Stoughton last Saturday showed a sorry sight. The ski jump is entirely demolished, and it is said it will not be rebuilt; but very few tobacco sheds are standing. Huge trees were torn out and roots in the air, and barns unroofed to what extent damage was done by the recent storm.

We are all very interested in Cloverly and the "House next door," published in "House and Garden" and written by Mrs. Fanny Sage Stone, who with her sister, Miss Sage and other city people, boarded at the "House next door" one summer during their vacation. Cloverly means Cooksville.

The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Porter was held at their country home two miles west of Evansville, Sunday, May 17th. Friday, the 15th, was the day properly, but it was such a busy time it was deemed advisable to have it Sunday. It was in the nature of a surprise and it was to some of the family. About thirty people were there, and a sumptuous dinner at two o'clock we adjourned to the lawn. America was sung, or one verse of it and as no more could think of any more it was enough. Any Richardson said when the English sang "God Save the King," they sang every verse good and loud, but we Americans never could think of but one verse of "America."

Mrs. Helen Richardson was then called upon to read "Cloverly and the House Next Door," which was very interesting to those who had not read it. Alex Richardson then in his usual happy manner presented the happy couple with twelve silver teaspoons. Then the visiting began, and every one thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. At six the autos began to load up and at seven we were all home.

Relief From Constipation

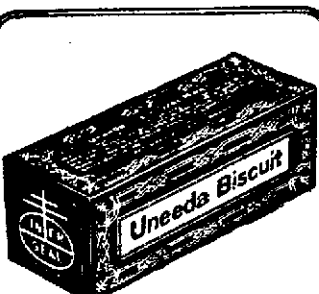

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No griping, is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown nose" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. All druggists.

Grand Concert by Young Women From Wales Is Rare Treat.—Musicians Rank With the Best.

The widely known Welsh Ladies' Choir, composed of sixteen young ladies from Wales, under the direction of Madame Hughes-Thomas, presented to a good sized audience last evening in the auditorium of the Cargill Memorial M. E. church, one of the most notable musical programs ever listened to in this city. It was a rare treat for the people, to hear these talented people singing the music classics of today.

The operatic scene—Miserere (Il Tristone)—was sung by the Misses Ida Owen and Megan Harries, with the company, and was one of the delights of the evening. Miss Dorothea Smith, with her violin, and a winning smile, proved to be a big hit on the program. Nothing but the highest praise is due her, for she played "Cambril," one of the most difficult violin selections of today, errorless and with the greatest ease.

Miss Annie Jones and Miss Megan Harries, rendering "The Fair Hills of Erin" and "My Ain Folk," respectively, were forced to answer to encores. The choir closed their concert by singing "The Star Spangled Banner," at which time the audience arose, soon leaving the church satisfied that they had heard one of the world's greatest musical organizations.

The public is largely interested in the movement. Farmers as a class have contributed liberally towards the fund for sinking 500 feet, should that depth of bore be necessary, and in the event of failure, the well is to be carried to the water deeper into the bowels of the earth, the projectors reasonably assume that Janesville will not scruple to supply the needful.

Mr. Swan, the contractor, has been heard from, and it is proposed to be here tomorrow, the 21st, ready to prosecute the undertaking "to an issue."

The east side steamer tried the new auxiliary engine last evening in spite of the bad weather and the result of their experiments is that everybody capable of pronouncing, is agreed on one proposition, that the council should expend one hundred and fifty dollars to much greater advantage.

ATTENTION MOTHERS

If You Have or Know of a Delicate Child Read This Letter.

"My little daughter Louise, age 9 years, has always been delicate, anemic, had no appetite and seemed listless, and we could not seem to find anything that would help her, until we were advised to give her Vinol. She started taking it six weeks ago and inside of two weeks she showed a marked improvement both in appetite, vim and looks. Being so well pleased with the results, I continued giving it to her, and words fail to express my gratitude, and faith in Vinol both as a blood maker and body builder. As my child was an anemic for so long makes the reason all the stronger for me to recommend it to others in similar condition." Geo. E. Munro, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Vinol restores health and strength in conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, enriches the blood and strengthens every organ of the body.

Every bottle of Vinol is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. Smith Drug Co., Drugists, Janesville, Wis.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

Janesville, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Janesville evidence of their merit.

Mrs. Nels Thompson, 232 Park St., Janesville, Wis., says: "My kidneys were quite a bit by acting irregularly. I had had attacks of backache. When I slept, I had sharp pains through my back. At other times there were dull nagging pains in the small of my back. One of my acquaintances had used Doan's Kidney Pills, so I took them. They soon relieved the pain. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they keep up my system. They have done much for me that I want to let kidney sufferers know about."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

She gave a frightened little scream. A strong pair of arms had encircled her. She started to cry out again, but the sound was muffled and blotted out by the pressure of a man's lips upon her own. She struggled violently, and suddenly was freed.

"If I were a man," she said, "you should die for that!"
"It was an opportunity not to be ignored," returned Courtlandt. "It is true that I was a fool to run away as I did, but my return has convinced me that I should have been as much a fool had I remained to tag you about, begging for an interview. I wrote you letters. You returned them unopened. You have condemned me without a hearing. So be it. You may consider that kiss the farewell appearance so dear to the operatic heart," bitterly.

He addressed most of this to the back of her head, for she was already walking toward the villa into which she disappeared with the proud air of some queen of tragedy. She was a capital actress.

A heavy hand fell upon Courtlandt's shoulder. He was irresistibly drawn right about face.
"Now, then, Mr. Courtlandt," said Harrigan, his eyes blue and cold as ice, "perhaps you will explain?"
With rage and despair in his heart, Courtlandt flung off the hand and answered: "I refuse!"
"Ah!" Harrigan stood off a few steps and ran his glance critically up and down this man of whom he had thought to make a friend. "You're a husky lad. There's one way out of this for you."

"So long as it does not necessitate any explanations," indifferently.

"In the bottom of one of Nora's trunks is a set of my old gloves. There will not be anyone up at the tennis court this time of day. If you are not a mean cuss, if you are not an ordinary low-down imitation of a man, you'll meet me up there inside of five minutes. If you can stand up in front of me for ten minutes, you need not make any explanations. On the other,

"If You Can Stand Up in Front of Me for Ten Minutes You Need Make No Explanations." The man, you'll hike out of here as fast as boats and trains can take you. And never come back."

"I am nearly twenty years younger than you, Mr. Harrigan."

"Oh, don't let that worry you any," with a truculent laugh.

"Very well. You will find me there. After all, you are her father."

"You bet I am!"

Harrigan stole into his daughter's room and soundlessly bored into the bottom of the trunk that contained the relics of past glory. As he pulled them forth, a folded oblong strip of parchment came out with them and fluttered to the floor; but he was too busily engaged to notice it, nor would he have bothered if he had. The bottom of the trunk was littered with old letters and programs and operatic scores. He wrapped the gloves in a newspaper and got away without being seen. He was as happy as a boy who had discovered an opening in the fence between him and the apple orchard. He was rather astonished to see Courtlandt kneeling in the clover patch, hunting for a four-leaf clover. It was patent that the young man was not troubled with nerves.

"Here!" he cried, brusquely, tossing over a pair of gloves. "If this method of settling the dispute isn't satisfactory, I'll accept your explanations."

For reply Courtlandt stood up and stripped to his undershirt. He drew on the gloves and laced them with the aid of his teeth. Then he kneaded them carefully. The two men eyed each other a little more respectfully than they had ever done before.

"This single court is about as near as we can make it. The man who steps outside is whipped."

"I agree," said Courtlandt. "No rounds with rests; until one or the other is outside. Clean breaks. That's about all. Now, put up your dukes and take a man's licking. I thought you were your father's son, but I guess you are like the rest of 'em, hunters of women."

Courtlandt laughed and stepped to the middle of the court. Harrigan did not waste any time. He sent in a straight jab to the jaw, but Courtlandt blocked it neatly and countered with a hard one on Harrigan's ear, which began to swell.

"Fine!" growled Harrigan. "You know something about the game. It won't be as if I was walloping a baby." He sent a left to the body, but the right failed to reach his man.

For some time Harrigan jabbed and swung and uppercut; often he reached his opponent's body; but never his face. It worried him a little to find that he could not stir Courtlandt more than two or three feet. Courtlandt never followed up any advantage, thus making Harrigan force the fighting, which was rather to his liking. But presently it began to enter his mind convincingly that apart from the initial blow, the younger man was working wholly on the defensive. As if he were afraid he might hurt him! This served to make the old fellow furious. He bored in right and left, left and right, and Courtlandt gave way, step by step until he was so close to the line that he could see it from the corner of his eye. This glance, swift as it was, came near to being his undoing. Harrigan caught him with a terrible right on the jaw. It was a glancing blow, otherwise the fight would have ended then and there. Instantly he lurched forward and clinched before the other could add the finishing touch.

The two pushed about, Harrigan fiercely striving to break the younger man's hold. He was beginning to breathe hard besides. A little longer, and his blows would lack the proper steam. Finally Courtlandt broke away of his own accord. His head buzzed a little, but aside from that he had recovered. Harrigan pursued his tactics and rushed. But this time there was an offensive return. Courtlandt became the aggressor. There was no withstanding him. And Harrigan fairly saw the end; but with that indomitable pluck which had made him famous in the annals of the ring, he kept banging away. The swift, cruel jabs here and there upon his body began to tell. Oh, for a minute's rest and a piece of lemon on his parched tongue! Suddenly Courtlandt rushed him tigerishly, landing a jab which closed Harrigan's right eye. Courtlandt dropped his hands, and stepped back. His glance traveled suggestively to Harrigan's feet. He was outside the "ropes."

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Harrigan, for losing my temper."

"What's the odds? I lost mine. You win." Harrigan was a true sportsman. He had no excuses to offer. He had dug the pit of humiliation with his own hands. He recognized this as one of two facts. The other was, that had Courtlandt extended himself, the battle would have lasted about one minute. It was gall and wormwood, but there you were.

"And now, you ask for explanations. Ask your daughter to make them." Courtlandt pulled off the gloves and got into his clothes. "You may add, sir, that I shall never trouble her again with my unwelcome attentions. I leave for Milan in the morning."

"Courtlandt left the field of victory without further comment."

"Well, what do you think of that?" mused Harrigan, as he stooped over to gather up the gloves. "Any one would say that he was the injured party. I'm in wrong on this deal somewhere. I'll ask Miss Nora a question or two."

It was not so easy returning. He ran into his wife. He tried to dodge her, but without success.

"James, where did you get that black eye?" tragically.

"It's a daisy, ain't it, Molly?" pushing past her into Nora's room and closing the door after him.

"Father!"

"That you, Nora?" blinking.

"Father, if you have been fighting with him, I'll never forgive you."

"Forget it, Nora. I wasn't fighting. I only thought I was."

He raised the lid of the trunk and cast in the gloves haphazard. And then he saw the paper which had fallen out. He picked up and squinted at it, for he could not see very well. Nora was leaving the room in a temper.

"Going, Nora?"

"I am. And I advise you to have your dinner in your room."

Alone, he turned on the light. It never occurred to him that he might be prying into some of Nora's private correspondence. He unfolded the parchment and held it under the light. For a long time he stared at the writing, which was in English, at the date, at the names. Then he quietly refolded it and put it away for future use, immediate future use.

"This is a great world," he murmured, rubbing his ear tenderly.

CHAPTER XIV.

Journey's End.

Harrigan dined alone. He was in disgrace; he was sore, mentally as well as physically; and he ate his dinner without relish, in simple obedience to those well-regulated periods of hunger that assailed him three times a day, in spring, summer, autumn and winter. By the time the waiter had cleared away the dishes, Harrigan had a perfect between his teeth (along with a certain matrimonial bit), and smoked as if he had wagered to finish the cigar in half the usual stretch. He then began to walk the floor, much after the fashion of a man who has the toothache, or the earache, which would be more to the point. To his direct mind no diplomacy was needed; all that was necessary was a few blunt questions. Nora could answer them as she chose.

Nora, his baby, his little girl that used to run around barefooted and laugh when he applied the needed birch! How children grew up! And they never grew too old for the birch; they certainly never did.

They heard him from the drawing-room; tramp, tramp, tramp.

"Let him be, Nora," said Mrs. Harrigan, wisely. "He is in a rage about something. And your father is not the easiest man to approach when he's mad. If he fought Mr. Courtlandt, he believed he had some good reason for doing so."

"Mother, there are times when I believe you are afraid of father." "I am always afraid of him. It is only because I make believe I'm not that I can get him to do anything. It was dreadful. And Mr. Courtlandt was such a gentleman. I could cry. But let your father be until tomorrow."

"And have him wandering about with that black eye? Something must be done for it. I'm not afraid of him." "Sometimes I wish you were."

So Nora entered the lion's den fearlessly. "Is there anything I can do for you, dad?"

"You can get the witch hazel and bathe this lamp of mine," grimly.

She ran into her own room and returned with the stimples devices for reducing a swollen eye. She did not notice, or pretended that she didn't, that he looked the door and put the key in his pocket. He sat down in a chair, under the light, and she went to work deftly.

Dinner Stories

A teacher in a big elementary school had given lessons to an infant's class on the Ten Commandments. In order to test their memories she asked:

"Can any little child give me a commandment with only four words in it?"

A hand was raised immediately. "Well," said the teacher.

"Keep off the grass," was the unexpected reply.

A business concern, after running its own trade organ for some time, decided that it must have a printing department under its own supervision, because it found that "the ordinary printing office is not properly equipped to get out large quantities of special matter on short notice in an up-to-date manner and at an 'equanim-real cost." Soon after one partner turned to the other and inquired, "Do you spell 'equ-u-e' or 'equ-n-i' in 'equanimity'?" "I am not sure," said the other. "Look in the dictionary." After some search the first said with pained surprise, "Taint here." The second came to help him, but had no better success. Then they stared at each other in astonishment, till one exclaimed: "Well, what do you think of a man that would get up a big dictionary like that and not put in such a common word as 'equanimity'?"

"There are some spectacles," said the lecturer, "that one never forgets." "I wish you would tell me where I could get a pair of them!" exclaimed an old lady in the audience. "I am always forgetting mine!"

Don't Neglect the Children's Reading Hour

"Mama, will you read me some of 'Monarch, The Big Bear tonight?' asked a wee girlie of her busy mother. "Oh, Mama, please do," chimed in her little son. "We have had no reading for so long. It don't seem like home."

The busy mother winced. She knew the boy spoke truly. They had been letting their happy evenings become a thing of memory. She had been so busy. It was all work that could not be put back too. Still must the children lose their evening hour that meant so much to them, and that was such a help and pleasure?

That night, the mother wrote out the following little ad for her home paper: "Wanted: A young girl, preferably a high school student, to act in the capacity of mother's helper, for one hour every evening after school. Phone 579, green."

If we told you this was from life would you wonder who the people were? Or, would you wisely decide to see if the want ad page could not help you? Could it? Have you tried it?

GOOPS
 By GELETT BURGESS

Across the walk, where people pass,
 Is stretched the rope
 Of Carrie Cass;
 And oh, the things
 That people say,
 Because her rope
 Is in the way!

They say she is
 A Goop—they know
 She is to bother
 People so!

Don't Be A Goop!
 Got Any?

The fall of the year always lays a special strain upon the nation's financial resources. For not only is there the money needed to move the crops, but also those great rolls of bills which prudent men, in putting away their light clothing, do not forget to forget in the pockets thereof, in order that they may come joyfully to light next summer.—Puck.
